ANNEXURE- IV

The management of the Company is pleased to present its report on the business environment & industry scenario, industry risks and opportunities and Company's performance during the financial year 2025 -26.

GLOBAL ECONOMY:

The global economy continued to operate in a complex and evolving environment during FY 2025–26, influenced by geopolitical uncertainties, changing trade policies, supply-chain realignment, inflationary pressures and shifts in consumer demand. Despite these challenges, global trade and consumption remained resilient across several major markets. The textile and apparel industry continued to benefit from population growth, rapid urbanisation, rising disposable incomes, expansion of organised retail and e-commerce, and increasing consumer preference for branded, functional and sustainable products.

The global textile and apparel industry is undergoing significant structural transformation, driven by technological advancement and increasing emphasis on sustainable manufacturing. Technologies such as Artificial Intelligence (AI), automation, robotics, digital printing, Internet of Things (IoT), data analytics and smart manufacturing are increasingly being adopted across the textile value chain to improve productivity, strengthen quality control, reduce material wastage, optimise inventory management and enhance overall operational efficiency. At the same time, international brands and retailers are placing greater emphasis on environmentally responsible manufacturing, recycled and sustainable materials, and reduction of carbon emissions, water conservation, renewable energy and greater supply-chain transparency.

Global sourcing patterns are also witnessing gradual diversification as international brands seek to reduce dependence on individual manufacturing locations and build more resilient supply chains. The continuing “China plus One” sourcing strategy has created significant opportunities for alternative manufacturing destinations, particularly India. Supported by its strong textile manufacturing base, availability of raw materials, skilled workforce, competitive production capabilities and improving infrastructure, India is well positioned to strengthen its participation in the global textile and apparel supply chain and capture emerging opportunities in international markets.

INDIAN ECONOMY:

India continued to demonstrate resilience during FY 2025–26, supported by strong domestic consumption, infrastructure development, manufacturing activity, digitalisation and policy initiatives aimed at strengthening investment and production capabilities. The textile and apparel industry remains an important contributor to the Indian economy through manufacturing, exports, employment generation and rural livelihoods. India possesses an integrated textile value chain covering fibres, yarn, fabrics, processing, garments, home textiles, handicrafts and technical textiles, supported by abundant raw-material availability, established manufacturing clusters and a large skilled workforce.

During FY 2025–26, India's exports of textiles and apparel, including handicrafts, stood at approximately ₹3,25,339 crore as against ₹3,19,573 crore during FY 2024–25, registering growth of approximately 1.8%. Ready-made garments remained the largest export category at approximately ₹1,39,350 crore, while man-made textiles and cotton textile exports stood at approximately ₹46,254 crore and ₹1,02,427 crore, respectively. India's textile exports continued to reach a diversified range of international markets, including the United States, Bangladesh, the United Arab Emirates, the United Kingdom and major European countries, demonstrating the sector's resilience despite global demand fluctuations, input-cost pressures and trade-related uncertainties.

Government initiatives such as the PM Mega Integrated Textile Regions and Apparel (PM MITRA) Parks Scheme, Production Linked Incentive (PLI) Scheme for Textiles, National Technical Textiles Mission, SAMARTH, RoSCTL and RoDTEP continue to support investment, infrastructure development, value addition, skill development and export competitiveness. Further, the India-United Kingdom Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA), providing duty-free access to almost 99% of India's exports to the UK, is expected to create significant opportunities for labour-intensive sectors, including textiles and apparel. Supported by favourable policies, improving infrastructure and greater access to international markets, the Indian textile and apparel industry remains well positioned for sustainable long-term growth.

THE INDUSTRY OVERVIEW:

The Indian textile and apparel industry is undergoing significant transformation, driven by increasing emphasis on technology, value addition, sustainability and market diversification. The sector is progressively expanding beyond conventional textile manufacturing towards branded apparel, man-made fibres, technical textiles, performance fabrics and other specialised products. Sustainable manufacturing has also gained considerable importance, with global customers increasingly evaluating suppliers on environmental performance, responsible sourcing and supply-chain transparency. Consequently, Indian manufacturers are investing in renewable energy, water-efficient manufacturing systems, recycling, environmentally friendly materials and recognised sustainability standards.

Technology adoption continues to be a major driver of the industry's transformation. Automation, Artificial Intelligence (AI), Internet of Things (IoT), digital printing, Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) systems, data analytics and automated manufacturing processes are enabling businesses to improve productivity, minimise material wastage, enhance product quality and achieve faster order fulfilment. Technical textiles also represent an important growth opportunity, with increasing demand for specialised textile products across healthcare, automotive, construction, agriculture, defence, infrastructure and industrial applications. Continued investment in research, innovation and manufacturing capabilities is expected to support further diversification into higher-value textile products.

The domestic apparel market is also evolving rapidly with the expansion of organised retail, e-commerce, social commerce and Direct-to-Consumer (D2C) brands, enabling manufacturers to reach consumers directly and respond more effectively to changing preferences and fashion trends. At the same time, diversification of global sourcing provides India with opportunities to strengthen its position in international textile and apparel supply chains. Supported by competitive manufacturing capabilities, availability of raw materials, skilled manpower, improving infrastructure and government initiatives, India remains well positioned to capture emerging opportunities and increase its participation in the global textile and apparel market.

MACRO-ECONOMIC OVERVIEW:

The operating environment for the textile industry continues to be influenced by global demand conditions, fluctuations in raw-material prices, foreign-exchange movements, freight costs, geopolitical developments and evolving international trade policies. While these factors may result in short-term volatility, India's strong domestic market and diversified manufacturing capabilities provide structural support to the sector. Government initiatives such as PM MITRA Parks and the Production Linked Incentive (PLI) Scheme are expected to strengthen integrated manufacturing infrastructure, improve economies of scale and encourage investment in man-made fibre apparel, fabrics and technical textiles, thereby enhancing India's competitiveness in global markets.

The industry continues to face challenges including intense international competition, changing fashion cycles, fluctuations in cotton and other input costs, compliance requirements, availability of skilled labour and evolving sustainability standards. At the same time, rising disposable incomes, rapid urbanisation, a growing young consumer base, expansion of organised retail and increasing adoption of digital commerce provide significant growth opportunities. The convergence of traditional retail, e-commerce and Direct-to-Consumer (D2C) models is further transforming the market, while continued focus on operational efficiency, technology adoption, working-capital management and product diversification is expected to support the industry's sustainable long-term growth.

OUTLOOK:

The medium- to long-term outlook for the Indian textile and apparel industry remains positive, supported by growing domestic consumption, export diversification, policy support, technological advancement and India's increasing integration with global supply chains. The India-UK CETA, expanding trade relationships and export-promotion initiatives are expected to create additional opportunities for Indian manufacturers, particularly in technical textiles, man-made fibres, sustainable garments, performance fabrics and branded apparel. Increasing investments in automation, digitalisation, research and development, renewable energy and sustainable manufacturing are also expected to strengthen the industry's competitiveness. While global economic uncertainties, geopolitical developments, fluctuations in raw-material prices, currency movements and changing consumer preferences may continue to pose challenges, India's integrated textile value chain, strong raw-material base, skilled workforce, growing domestic market and improving manufacturing infrastructure provide a strong foundation for sustainable growth. With continued focus on quality, innovation, value addition, technology and sustainability, India is well positioned to further strengthen its position as a major global textile and apparel manufacturing and sourcing destination.

ANNEXURE "B" TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF KIZI APPARELS LIMITED FOR THE PERIOD ENDED
31ST March 2026

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ('the Act')

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Kizi Apparels Limited ('the Company') as of 31st March 2026 in conjunction with our audit of the Accounting Standards financial statements of the Company for the period ended on that date.

Opinion

We have audited the internal financial control with reference to financial statement of Kizi Apparels Limited ('The Company') as of 31st March 2026 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statement of the company at and for the period ended on that date.

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March 2026, based on the criteria for internal financial control over financial reporting established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the ICAI.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the 'Guidance Note') issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the 'ICAI'). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, issued by the ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that:

- pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;
- provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and
- Provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these standalone financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Companies Act, 2013, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements, or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the standalone financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the standalone financial statements

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.
